New Homes for the Proving Ground's Hundreds

Every emergency catches us thinking and acting unconsciously as individuals—and then, on second thought, we join in collective action to meet the situation. Hope, after a month of private speculation over the effects of the Proving Ground construction, has united in an effort to provide all available housing for newcomers—but the greatest collective effort of all remains to be made: The finding of temporary homes for the people to be exacuated from the 43,000-acre Proving Ground tract.

City Considers Improvement of Dyke Springs

Sanitary and Police Precautions Taken for Expected 'Boom'

A plan to make a first class park out of the city's Dyke Springs property was enthusiastically received Tuesday night by the Hope city council in its regular meeting at the city hall.

The Soil Conservation Service submitted the plan and offered to clean up the underbrush on the 40-acre tract, clean the spring and fix a fountain. The SCS survey showed that some of the timber on the tract should be cut and pointed out that this would pay for the improvements.

If a test of the soil reveals it will hold water a small lake could be made. The council voted to accept the services of an expert forester who will pick out the trees to be cut.

When this is done bids will be received from different lumber companies. Much discussion was devoted to health and traffic problems which are expected here during the construction of the proving ground and the second army maneuvers.

Need More Police

It was revealed by Chief of Police F. V. Haynie, that soldiers on maneuvers would be released Saturday nights and Sunday and a large portion of them are expected to come to town over weekends. Chief Haynie told the council that more men would have to be added to the police force.

In order to take care of the traffic for the next six months the council called for bids on the purchase of a motorcycle for the police department. It was decided to enforce the 2-hour parking law downtown, which already exists.

Some discussion was devoted to equipping the city police car with a radio in connection with the state police system which will be located near Hope, but no action was taken. The council is expected to hold a special session soon to purchase land for the state police headquarters building.

In view of the increased activities of the health department Dr. Don Smith, health physician, asked the city for at least a temporary hike in salary. The council instructed Dr. Smith to keep an account of extra expenses created for the next month and report back to the council.

To Buy Water Line

Local baseball players were granted permission to use the Fair park for the balance of the year.

The city agreed to purchase a water line, meeting requirements of the municipal plant, from R. T. White. The line is located on South Walnut street. A vote of appreciation was extended to the Fire department in response to a complimentary letter from the Hope Basket Co.

Sid Bundy was ordered to comply with the city ordinance when he asked for permission to build a filling station just across the Frisco railway on the Washington highway.

C. O. Thomas told the council that the storm sewer on South Elm street was nearly complete with over half of the tile laid.

Moscow Prepares to Meet Attack

MOSCOW — (AP)— Soviet Russia's capital Wednesday ordered general compulsory service of civilians for air and gas defense.

The order applied to all men between the ages of 18 and 50. Special training will be provided for children under 16.

Presbyterian Elders to Meet Wednesday

Meeting of the Elders of the Presbyterian church Wednesday immediately after our Mid-week Service which will be held as usual at 7:30. A good attendance is requested for our Mid-week Services and a goodly number of our Elders are expected to attend the Sessional meeting.

At South Bend, Ind., four persons by the name of Worm asked court permission to change it to Warren.

43,468 Acres of Proving Ground Area Condemned

Texarkana Federal Court Action Is Explained in Detail

Federal Judge Harry J. Lemley Tuesday afternoon in Texarkana signed an order giving the war department immediate possession of 43,468.27 acres of land north and northwest of Hope, Hempstead county, Ark. for use of the $15,000,000 Southwestern Proving Ground to be established under the national emergency defense program.

The order was obtained on petition of the United States district attorney's office, with Assistant District Attorney John E. Harris representing the government. The action was obtained under a special act of congress.

Revised Map Tomorrow

The revised map of the Proving Ground showing final boundaries established since publication of the tentative boundary lines June 18 will be published by The Star tomorrow. The full-page scale map will run through both the daily and weekly editions.

Original estimates were that the proving ground would embrace approximately 37,000 acres, but the court order includes 6,468.27 additional acres. However, it was pointed out that the final boundaries may be varied slightly by the cost of purchasing the land average to a small degree.

The proving ground's southern boundary will be about a mile wide and will lie a mile and a half north and northwest of Hope. The tract then will spread out from this south boundary and extend north and northwest for more than 16 miles, growing gradually wider toward the top so that the northern boundary will be more than six miles wide. The tract will just miss Washington, lying to the east of that town.

Appraisers at Work

The project now is being appraised by experts provided by the Federal Land Bank to determine the value of the full, absolute fee simple title to the various tracts. Abstracts of title later will be prepared by contract and submitted to the United States district attorney's office for approval, Harris explained.

Upon receipt of appraisals by the justice department, declarations of taking will be filed on each tract and the necessary funds will be deposited by the war department in the registry of the court to pay for the cost of purchasing the 43,468.27 acres of land.

The court then will decree the title to all of the property to be vested in the United States government.

Meanwhile, negotiators probably will be appointed to meet with the individual landowners in an effort to reach agreements as to the sale of the various pieces of property at appraised value.

Capital Stock Tax Increase

Committee Tentatively Approves Huge Tax Bill

WASHINGTON — (AP)— The House Ways and Means committee completed Wednesday preliminary drafting of a $3,504,400,000 tax bill—$4,400,000 above its goal—after voting tentatively to increase the capital stock tax on corporations.

Rep. Cooper said the committee agreed tentatively to raise the capital stock tax from the rate of $1.10 per $1,000 to $1.25. The move is estimated to yield $18,000,000 annually.

Rumor of 'Red Brick' Armory Quickly Spiked

Compere Gives Assurance It Will Match Courthouse's Buff Brick

A report that the new National Guard armory which will go up on the west side of the Hempstead county courthouse property this summer will be constructed of red brick instead of brick matching the outside appearance of the new $200,000 courthouse, was quickly denied Wednesday.

Rumors here early Wednesday said Hope Brick company had been asked to furnish 168,000 red brick for the armory, but it developed after telephone conversations with the State Military Department during the day that specifications for the Hope structure remained unchanged—and it would be built with an exterior wall of the same general color as the courthouse.

Letter From Compere

State Senator James H. Pilkinton had this assurance from Brigadier General E. L. Compere of the State Military Department by telephone during the morning. The general said he would write the senator a letter confirming the telephone conversation and pledge.

As matters now stand, the new armory will be built of buff brick, resembling the courthouse.

The "red brick" report had aroused local armory advocates because they had been definitely promised at a conference some months ago with the State Military Department that the exterior of the armory would be made to conform to any color scheme desired locally in order to match adjoining buildings—in this case the new courthouse, a buff brick structure. The pledge was given by State Assistant Adjutant Major Pat Harris, and was verified again Wednesday by General Compere in his telephone conversation.

Knox Denies Navy Used

Says Not Single Ship Engaged in Convoying

WASHINGTON — (AP)— Secretary Knox bluntly stated Wednesday that no American vessel had engaged in convoying, or in combat, or suffered any loss of life or equipment.

The question was raised at a press conference at which the navy chief was also interrogated about criticism in congress of his demand that the U. S. seize the moment to sweep "the German menace from the Atlantic."

The secretary declined to reply to criticism or to say whether the speech in which he made the demand had presidential cabinet approval.

At length when asked whether it would be fair to say "you are sticking by your guns" on the speech he said, "yes of course."

Senator Wheeler has said that Knox should be removed from office.

Home Problems

There are always a lot of little problems coming up around the home, besides the budget, that take a bit of pencil and paper to work out. Get yours out and see if you can solve this trio.

1. Mrs. Emerson has a square space in her living room containing 36 square feet. She wishes to fill it with three tables, and finds a set having one large table that is just twice the size of the other two. What are the dimensions of the square space and of each of the three tables that will fill it?

2. Robert goes to bed at 11 p. m. and gets up at 7:30 a. m. How many hours sleep did he have and how many times did the minute hand pass the hour hand on his clock?

3. Little Leonard can carry six pounds, bigger Bobby can carry 12, and tall Tom can carry 20. If Bobby can walk with his load twice as fast as Leonard and Tom can walk three times as fast as Leonard, how many trips will each boy make and how many total pounds will each carry to move a 180-pound pile of dirt from one space to another?

Americanism Parade July 4

Hope Organizations Plan Series of Demonstrations

The Americanism Committee of the Junior Chamber of Commerce headed by its Chairman, Royce Smith, met Tuesday night and voted to sponsor a 4th of July parade.

Committees, all over the nation are planning for demonstrations of allegiance to the flag and expressions of national unity on that day.

Wednesday morning the board of directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce approved the action taken by the Americanism committee.

Linus Walker has been selected by Royce Smith as Marshal of the Parade. All persons and organizations taking part in the parade are urged to get in touch with either Royce Smith or Linus Walker.

Plans are for the parade to form at the courthouse at 8:30 a. m. Friday, July 4th. The route it will follow is to be announced later by Mr. Walker. It will end at the city hall where following the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the Hope High School Band, State Representative Royce Weisenberger will lead those assembled in a pledge of allegiance to the flag.

Following is a list of all who so far are scheduled to take part in the parade.

10,227 Register in Arkansas

131 Youths Sign Up in Hempstead County Tuesday

LITTLE ROCK — (AP)— State selective service headquarters said Wednesday that 10,227, 21-year-old men registered in Arkansas Tuesday.

The total included 10,161 men who have become 21 since the first registration day last October 16 and 66 others who became 21 before the date but who failed to register at that time.

Sebastian county board (Ft. Smith) had the largest number to register with 204.

Local boards are required to shuffle the cards and assign serial numbers by July 9. Those called will be based on another national lottery, to be held in Washington. The date has not been set but officials said it would probably be July 16.

E. L. Compere, head of the state selective service, said the new men would be sandwiched in on the order list after the last serial inducted in the draft in each of the local boards.

For instance if the number of the last man to be drafted in Hempstead county was number 131, all 20 years olds who registered would be processed before the others.

Secret Decision on Policy Reached at Tokyo

TOKIO — (AP)— The government Wednesday said to have decided on a policy for coping with the crisis arising from the German-Russian war and Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka told the nation that "a really grave state of emergency is developing, before our eyes, throughout the world, particularly in East Asia."

The nature of the decision, even the general trend, was not disclosed, despite statements issued after a conference at the imperial palace in which generals and admirals met with key cabinet members Emperor Hirohito.

Domestic official Japanese news agency said that quarters close to the government indicated the course would be disclosed by action.

While maintaining secrecy the government intends to pursue a policy to translate into action whatever decisions were taken at the conference, Domel said.

Cabinet statesmen merely said a decision was reached at the conference at the imperial palace, on important national policies.

Some sources said it may be regarded as a peace move in China to strengthen the East Asia sphere of prosperity, and observance of both pacts with Russia and the Axis.

Soviet Forces Apparently Retreating After Hard Battle

BULLETINS

NEW YORK — (AP)— The British radio reported Wednesday that a Russian naval squadron had shell and destroyed a German-occupied naval base at Constanta, on the Rumanian Black Sea.

LONDON — (AP)— A Stockholm dispatch to Reuters in London said the Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Aftonbladet reported Wednesday that Mursmansk had been in German hands since Tuesday.

MOSCOW — (AP)— The Soviet government Wednesday expressed satisfaction and gratitude to the United States for recent statements on its stand on the present conflict.

By the Associated Press

Adolf Hitler's war machine was declared to have dealt a bloody, staggering blow to the Russians Wednesday with the reported smashing of a large part of the Soviet armies trapped east of Bielyostok, estimated at 400,000 troops, and the capture of 100,000 Red army prisoners.

In addition, the German high command said, immeasurable booty was taken, including 400 tanks and 300 field guns captured and destroyed.

The Berlin radio was quoted as saying German troops smashed strong Soviet lines in the area of Kaunas and captured the forces entire arms and equipment including 94 armored cars, 250 guns, 28 anti-aircraft guns, 81 tanks and 500 machine guns. Germans claimed the town was captured Sunday.

The Russian troops were said to be retreating on a wide front, suffering heavy casualties, while the German and Finnish armies were reported rolling across the U. S. S. R. from Finland in a new drive toward Leningrad, Russia's second biggest city.

Russians Falling Back

The German war bulletin said the Red army was falling back east of Lwow, in former Poland, and east of the German captured Minsk, capital of White Russia, and retreating to Estonia.

A unit of Hungarian forces advancing from Carpathian passes into Galicia joined the German army on schedule, the communique said.

The high command said the drive into USSR was "progressing swiftly."

Hitler's headquarters in a special communique asserted another 220 Russian tanks were captured Tuesday in a battle on the Galician front near the Soviet Ukraine. More than 4,000 tanks were previously reported engaged in battle in that sector.

Two whole Russian armies were reported to have been caught in the German snare and apparently cut to pieces.

The communique said a large part of the Soviet armies east of Bielyostok was definitely destroyed Tuesday.

Soviet Fighting Desperately

Dispatches from the front pictured the battlefields as bloody and said the Russians were hurrying regiment after regiment against Nazi troops, tanks and guns encircling them.

Previously the USSR reported it had stopped the Nazi drive and annihilated German tank forces on the central front.

In the south a Soviet bulletin reported other heavy blows to German forces driving into the Luck area, gateway to the Ukraine treasure house.

Asks Rifle Club for Old Guns

An Appeal Made by C. P. Roberts, President of Club

Editor The Star:

The officers of the Hempstead Rifle and Pistol Club recently received, a very strong appeal from the American Committee for the Defense of British Homes, for old guns.

Before taking any action of the matter, I thoroughly investigated the reliability of the organization and am attaching herewith a letter received from the secretary of the National Rifle Association which is self explanatory. Lord Beaverbrook, in a message to this committee said: Every weapon, every item of equipment that is sent helps to relieve the anxiety and strengthen the hand of one strong hearted man against the day of trial. We will fight with pitchforks if needs be, but we hope for better weapons.

While it is by no means the purpose of our club to do any kind of soliciting, we will however, cooperate with this worthy cause to the extent of making available, the use of our club rooms at the National Guard Armory as a receiving depot for any and all guns turned over to us, and will clean the mup, make such necessary repairs as we are able to make, and ship them promptly to this committee.

The Armory will be open on our meeting nights which is Thursday of each week, after 7:30.

Sincerely yours,
C. P. Roberts

Letter to Roberts
Mr. C. P. Roberts, President, Hempstead Rifle and Pistol Club, Hope, Arkansas.
My dear Mr. Roberts:
I am returning herewith the solicitation card for the American Committee for Defense of British Homes. This organization is thoroughly reliable. It is operating with the official sanction of both the British and American Governments and is making regular weekly shipments to England. We are thoroughly in favor of cooperating with them, with only one provision attached. That is that in the case of 22 caliber rifles suitable for Junior instruction and senior target practice there is likely to be a definite shortage in this country before much longer. We feel that where rifles of this type are available it is an excellent idea for their American owners to use them to instruct American youngsters or to turn them over to schools or Junior clubs which are already established and which never have enough club rifles to adequately carry on their instruction program. Inasmuch as the 22 caliber rifles are the least important from the standpoint of the British, we feel that we can help the British and help ourselves, too, by letting have the shotguns and higher powered rifles that they need for conversation with Senator Pilkinton. Committee Busy

The telephone calls had resulted from local inquiries made by several members of the original armory committee appointed by County Judge Fred Luck, among them being: Clifford Franks, Roy Anderson, Rep. Royce Weisenberger, Senator Pilkinton and E. F. McFaddin.
A possible explanation of the "red brick" rumor was this:
Standard specifications for National Guard armories call for an exterior of red brick. It might have been presumed that the local building also was to be constructed of red brick, but the actual facts are that the specifications on file at Little Rock call for buff brick. This was verified Wednesday.

praised value. In all cases where agreements are reached and titles are acceptable to the government, early disbursements to the property owners will be made by orders of the court, Harris said.
If the negotiators and owners are unable to agree on the price, the property will be condemned in federal court and the value determined by a petit jury.
Too Look Out for Taxes
Where title to various parcels of land is in dispute, this also will be settled in trials held in federal court and disbursements made in accordance with the court findings.
Since Hempstead county and the state of Arkansas may have "some claim for taxes or otherwise claim some right, title or interest in and to any or all of the lands embraced in the tract, the state land commissioner and county officers of Hempstead county were made parties to the petition filed by the government to obtain immediate possession of the proving ground tract.
The petition points out that they "are made parties defendant in this proceeding that they may furnish the court a statement of all unpaid taxes and assessments made against the lands" or any other claim which they may have.
Work of the appraisers and abstractors may be facilitated by property owners who provide the government with all available information relating to their lands, Harris explained. Abstracts and other such information will be of great value in expediting court proceedings necessary to the disbursement of money for damages, he said.
A $1,300,000 military airport will be constructed at the south end of the proving ground.
Tractors and truck equipment for vast earth-moving and gravel hauling operations are arriving on the south end of the project and another shipment of trucks is due Thursday by rail. Actual work on the project is expected to get underway after July 4.

Gen. Wavell Is Sent to India

British Middle East Head Relieved of Command

LONDON —(AP)— Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, British Middle Eastern commander-in-chief, whose desert armies drove the Italians deep into Libya before being forced back by Germans, today was transferred to India, exchanging posts with Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck who is almost unknown to the general public. No reason was given in the announcement made at No. 10 Downing street, residence of Prime Minister Churchill.

But this surprise military shake-up which stunned Britons was interpreted variously as evidence that: 1. General Wavell had been shelved because of the German break-through in Libya and the loss of the Greek island of Crete, or 2. That General Wavell was being sent to ready British Indian legions to defend that vast part of the British empire against a possible German attack through Russia and Iran.

Stamp-Size Letters For British Fighters

CAIRO, Egypt —(AP)— Letters for the 50,000 British soldiers, sailors, and airmen in the Middle East are being reduced to the size of postage stamps to save weight and bulk in the mails. Ordinarily these 50,000 letters would weigh three-quarters of a ton. By photographing them on film and packing them in small, lightweight containers they are reduced to thirty pounds. On arrival here they are enlarged to four by five inches then rushed to the postoffice to be sorted, folded and gummed prior to dispatch to their final billets.

The new method also saves the long tortuous sea voyage. Writers are limited to about 700 words. Critics claim this necessitates shorter letters. Others say they never were very good letter writers.

Dr. A. M. Harding Becomes President July 1

FAYETTEVILLE — Dr. Arthur M. Cracken Harding, a native Arkansan and a member of the University of Arkansas faculty since 1905, became president of the institution July 1.

Dr. A. M. Harding
A native of Pine Bluff, the new university executive is a fourth-generation Arkansan. He entered the preparatory department of the university in 1898 and was graduated with a B. A. degree in 1904 at the age of 19. He holds the M. A. and Ph. D. degrees from the University of Chicago.

President Harding joined the faculty of the institution he now heads in 1905 as an instructor in mathematics. Coming up from the ranks of the faculty he has held the position of registrar, examiner, director and dean. He organized the general extension service and administered it until his elevation to the presidency. He has had charge of university alumni work for a quarter of a century.

Dr. Harding has achieved distinction in the field of mathematics. In collaboration with a university classmate, Dr. George W. Mullins of Barnard College, he has written textbooks in algebra, geometry and trigonometry.

His hobby, popular astronomy, has gained him national reputation as a writer and speaker. His book on the subject has been a best seller, and he has given illustrated lectures on astronomy before some 2,000 audiences in 47 states and Canada.

Dr. Harding holds many educational honors. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society, and Sigma Xi, graduate scientific society. He is a member of the American Mathematical Society and American Astronomical Society. He has served as president of the National University Extension Association (in 1933-1934). He is an Episcopalian, a Democrat and a member of Rotary International.

Electric Pumps for Farm Use

Efficiency of Pumps Greatly Aids Farmers

Electrically operated pumps for farm use are shallow well pumps, deep well pumps, and jet pumps, according to Oliver L. Adams, county agent.

Shallow well pumps are the cheapest type, and the farmer who can use one is fortunate, because their performance is just as satisfactory as that of other types. This pump does not have to be located directly over the well, but it is usually desirable that the pump be installed so that it can pump from the bottom of the well. However, the pump must not be more than 20 to 25 feet above the bottom of the well.

Deep well pumps, which are more expensive, may be obtained for wells of any depth. Their biggest disadvantage, however, is that they must be located directly over the well, since part of the mechanism is placed in the well. A pump house over the well is necessary.

Jet pumps combine some of the advantages of each of the other two types. They need not be located directly over the well, yet they can pump water from depths greater than 25 feet. However, the efficiency of a jet pump decreases rapidly as the depth to the water gets greater. It is probably not economical to use them where the depth to water is more than 65 to 70 feet. For greater depths it is more economical to build a pump house over the well and use an ordinary deep well pump. Jet pumps are recommended by the University of Arkansas College of Agriculture for wells that are between 25 to 70 feet deep, and which are so situated that it is not convenient to locate the pump directly over the well.

Woman Booms Police Gazette

Young Beauty Dishes Out the Old Baloney

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Feature Service Writer

Eddie Farrell, who dishes up pieces on sex and murder from the Police Gazette's editor's chair, says she's a frustrated woman.

By Broadway standards she is a success. Since she became editor of the Gazette three years ago, when she was only 25, its 1938 circulation of 48,000 has quadrupled. But that has not satisfied her. What she longs to do is write the Great American Novel.

When I went to see her the other day, she came zooming into her Broadway office in a red-haired white suit, molded to a well-nodded figure. Eyes, curls and the bow that held them were all a crackling black. She tossed her big white hat on a table sat down in the big swivel desk chair, tucked one foot under her and let fly.

"What anybody wants to write about me for is more than I know. Sure I'm the editor of the Police Gazette — though nobody but a few people around here ever believe it. Sure I take a kick out of it. I love to have things going on. But what I really want to do is write a book — realist stuff. I can't break the bigtime, though, so I break the small-time. I think the pulps are the only field I'll ever crack."

La Farrell, born and educated in New York, started writing for pulp paper magazines when she was 14. She sold her first piece for $7.50 and spent it all on such forbidden fruit as sodas and the movies. Stories rolled out of her typewriter fast after that and at 18 Miss Farrell had a pulp paper job giving advice to the loveless.

She left that to marry a serious young New York chemist, who insists on remaining nameless whenever his wife's job with the Police Gazette is mentioned. After the birth of a daughter she concentrated on domesticity. That proved to be her first big frustration.

"I was the world's worst housekeeper," she said. Believe me I was a mess. I used to sit and brood about the writing I wasn't getting done and my weight went down to 95 pounds. No telling how long that might have gone on had the chemist husband not met with an accident. One night he walked in his sleep, crashed through a window onto a fire escape and was injured. While he was in the hospital, Miss Farrell took matters back into her own little white hands. She banged out a piece with her usual speed and took it to an editor who handed it back with the words: "That's strictly Police Gazette."

So La Farrell took her piece to the Gazette and has been there ever since. She began by dunning an advertisement and eight months later she landed in the editor's chair. Thereafter the circulation began to climb. "The reason for it," she says, "is that we went back to the files of the police nineties, when the paper was going strong, and copied ideas from those old issues. Stories on burlesque queens in tights, crime and all that. The idea came from the publisher—Harold Russell—not from me. The only thing I take credit for is that I did it cleverly. I took the heads from the old issues of the gay nineties and wrote stories to fit. It's all the same baloney—and it's still good."

She works like a whirlwind. Fills several pages in the pink gazette every month—chiefly with stories of strip-tease queens, whom she interviews in their dressing rooms, while they undress. Mulls over her stories till she gets just the angle she wants. Scribbles her ideas with lipstick or eyebrow pencil if she hasn't a pencil with her. Wakes her husband up in the middle of the night and says: "Get up and write this head."

That brings up her first frustration. Her husband won't let her talk about her work in public. He tells people

Big Broadwayman Moves in on Movies

HOLLYWOOD — They have finally got Richard Whorf at work in Movie town, and with the perversity for which the place is celebrated, they're having him play the piano. That happens to be just about the only thing in show business that Whorf who at 35 seems to be a sort of legend in the theater, hasn't done.

He hasn't made a picture, either,

F. D. R. Without Liaison Man

Death of Harrison Leaves Post in Senate

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The President has hung out a new sign. It reads: "Help Wanted—A liaison man in the Senate."

The death of kindly, soft-spoken and well-beloved Sen. Pat Harrison, president pro tem of the Senate, has so further thinned the ranks of loyal senators that the administration reportedly is getting a little frantic about what to do for leadership in the upper chamber.

It isn't that there aren't some men remaining who can be counted on to line up on the right side of the aisle when the chips are being counted. The administration still has a substantial majority as long as the fight is just a skirmish between Democrats and Republicans. But when it develops into a knock-down-and-drag-out, who's going to give the signals, call the plays, and keep the boys from getting off-side?

Sen. James F. Byrnes—the greatest contact man the President ever has had on the Hill—has moved up to the Supreme Court. Pat Harrison is gone to an even higher tribunal.

He combed the cloakrooms and listened to the rumors. There's hardly by any one you could point to and say he's the next President's man.

George Albee Bushy, of Georgia, might be the next President pro tem, but Senator George, as chairman of the foreign relations committee, already has his hands full. "President pro tem" never was meant to be anything more than an honorary job anyway and it is only when some senator not otherwise in a key position can be given that post that it means anything.

As for a real "liaison man" (really an anonymous job, because neither legally nor politically is there any such official title), the men most prominently mentioned are Sen. Tom Connally, of Texas; Sen. Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois; and Sen. Lister Hill, of Alabama.

Measured by the political stature of "Jimmy" Byrnes, all of these men fall far short. None of them could be counted on to take a tough assignment and hammer it through heart and soul as Byrnes did. Senators Lucas and Hill haven't the adroitness, the adroitness, the political skill nor the popularity needed to hit in such pinches. Senator Connally isn't lacking in political sleight-of-hand, but the veteran Texas has tossed so many rough punches and gouges into his opponents that it's hard to expect any consideration if he should approach them now with padded gloves. He hasn't been a consistent President's man and being a senator of strong convictions, he probably couldn't be counted on to carry the torch for every White House-sponsored issue.

There are others who might be mentioned—but, at this writing, not seriously. Some enterprising senator may come forward and make his place in the sun, but he'll have to start from scratch and not help up his record as testimony that he deserves the place.

The best guess now is that the President will struggle along without any liaison in the upper house, counting on Sen. Alben Barkley, majority leader, and perhaps Vice President Henry A. Wallace to pass along his off-the-record convictions.

What About Wallace? Just the mention of vice President Wallace brings up an important point. From the moment he took the chair as president of the senate, the Vice President has sucked a lot of corn in making himself the ace of good fellow with the men who looked to him for recognition on the floor. Already, he is just about kingpin of the gymnasium gang. He's a popular tennis partner with every senator who knows a net from a duc. And his luncheons, both formal and informal, daily include from one to a score of the men with whom he works.

Just how much this means isn't clear yet, but some observers are saying now that it's possible, with Mr. Wallace in the senate chair, the President won't need any other liaison man.

He writes poetry—but she doesn't get paid for it. That burns her up. What she writes is not poetry and she does get paid for it.

Human Fly Goes For a Ride

ST. MATTHEWS, S. C. —(AP)—Mrs. L. B. Wannamaker was rather provoked when a youth riding on the running board of her car crawled half-halway in the window.

"Get back out," she ordered. "I can't drive with you in here!" The boy turned white and pressed his face against the side of the car. It wasn't until Mrs. Wannamaker stopped that she realized the automobile had no running board.

Unsolicited Fame

LOS ANGELES —(AP)—Spy scares somewhat upset the Oriental travel of Faubion Bowers, 24-year-old New Yorker. In Japan he was questioned as an American spy. Reaching the Dutch East Indies, he was held three weeks as a Japanese spy. He finally convinced officials he was just an American who wanted to go home.

"Mermaids' Pursues" "Mermaids' pursues" often are thrown up on shore by storms at sea. These curious objects really are the egg cases of certain dog-fish and sharks.

Doodlers' Delight For the benefit of doodlers, telephone booths of a college building in New York City are equipped with blackboard, chalk and erasers.

Growing So steadily has man's stature increased since days of old that suits of armor, preserved for the past 1000 years, would hardly fit a 13-year-old boy today.

Answer to Cranium Cracker

Questions on Page One

1. The square space, containing 8 square feet, is 6x6 feet. One table, filling half the space, would be 6x3 inches; the other two would be 3x3 inches each.

2. Robert gets 8 1/2 hours sleep, but the minute hand passes the hour hand only seven times.

3. Leonard makes two trips, carrying a total of 12 pounds;
Bobby going twice as fast, makes four trips, carrying 48 pounds;
Tom, going three times as fast as Leonard, makes six trips, carrying 120 pounds.

BARBS

If Europe is short of rubber, why not use some of those old treaties?
They bounce.

A New York agency sells advertising space on girls' knee-caps. Nothing like a nice literary ride in the subway these days.

To the society divorcee who told the judge she couldn't live on $1000 a week, we'd like to say that few of us can.

An instructor says the modern dances, such as the rhumba and La Conga, are healthy. So is putting the shot.
The bones in a whale weight 45 tons. No wonder that one got away from us last week.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

1. Is it all right for a man to smoke in a public vehicle?

2. Is it all right for the theater-goer who has left his seat during intermission to wait until after the curtain has gone up before he returns?

3. Should a woman houseguest expect to use her hostess' cosmetics, or furnish all of her own?

4. Should a houseguest tip a servant whose work has been made heavier by his being there?

5. How soon should a bread-and-butter note be written?
What would you do if—
You are hostess at a party and a friend who does not know you are entertaining stops by to call—
(a) Tell the friend you are on-entertaining, but invite the friend to come in—not insisting if he says "N"?

(b) Ask the friend in and let him find out when he gets inside that you are entertaining?

Answers
1. Yes. Unless there is a rule against it, or the vehicle is crowded and the air close.
2. No. It makes it hard on those who are seated behind him and for all those he has to pass to get to his own seat.
3. She should furnish her own.
4. Yes.
5. Within a week of the visit,
and the sooner the better.
Best "What Would You Do?"
solution—(a).

The World's News as Told in Pictures

Why Hemisphere Defense Planners Fret: Axis in South America

GERMAN BASE IN BRAZIL doesn't look very menacing, but it has United States experts on home-where defense worried. This is one of the plane repair stations which have been strung over South America by German commercial airlines. It's at Gando Inlet, Brazil.

NAZI PLANE OVER RIO symbolizes the potential threat in economic or actual war presented by increasing activity of axis air syndicates throughout South America. This is a Junkers seaplane of the German-controlled Condor syndicate flying over Rio de Janeiro harbor.

Keep Them Smiling! This picture is a good definition of the word "morale." That's the way Army officers want their men to look when they're off duty. Every American has a chance to help keep them smiling by contributing to such groups as United Service Organizations. Picture was made at Camp Hunter Liggett, Calif., as movie stars gave a "test show" before boys in uniform.

How British Forces Ring Syria

Map shows where British eastern Mediterranean fleet and land and air forces based in Cyprus, Palestine, Trans-Jordan and Iraq encircle French Syria. Turkey on the north has been allied to Britain, but her present attitude is uncertain.

'Most Beautiful'

You'll probably see her again in the papers as a glamorous 1955 debutante, but right now Mary Ann Keiser, 4, is getting her picture printed because she was named "America's Most Beautiful Child" in a contest sponsored by group of national magazine editors. She's daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry R. Keiser of Chicago.

Dive Bomb Drops Almost in Lap of British Warship

Just released by the British admiralty, this remarkable picture of action at sea shows how close a dive bomb can come to a warship and still miss. Water of the Mediterranean geysered over the decks of the aircraft carrier Illustrious, but gunner at right doesn't even flinch. Note small bursts of anti-aircraft fire at upper left.

Swing It, Your Ladyship

Lady Nancy Astor, Virginia-born member of British Parliament, cuts a few capers in bomb-blasted Plymouth with a naval officer. They lead Cornish floral dance.

Look Who's Talking

Silent partner is the once loud Mussolini as Adolf Hitler tells him what's what with word and finger in picture just in from Europe.

The Plane That Came to Dinner

The cricket stayed on the hearth and the kettle kept boiling after airplane engine violated privacy of Charles Seeley's kitchen, near Havelock, New Brunswick.

Love Finds a Way

Cute kid from New York's tenements, with no trees on which to carve familiar legend, goes to work on Joseph Allario's collar at kindergarten graduation. Rosemarie Esposito, maybe a little jealous, lets the world know "Joe Loves Mary."

Looks Pleased, Doesn't He?

Shown to the door by Sumner Welles, under-secretary of state, Constantin Oumansky is patently pleased as pie over U. S. stand on Russo-German war.

Winnie the Kid

Churchill lets go with an automatic gun, fairly "peppering the target," according to British caption. Captain Morgesson, in bowler hat, secretary of state for war, watches.

Ding Kwa Kwa Says Thumbs Up

The familiar greeting of good cheer these little Chinese boys are giving is no product of modern war, having come down to them from their illustrious ancestors. It is accompanied by the salutation, "Ding Kwa Kwa," which means "Are we downhearted? No!"

Kindergarten Kissin'

They begin early these days, with education and spooning. Here Julius Spier kisses Sally Green at New York Children's Aid Society kindergarten graduation for tenement tots. Julius was valedictorian, Sally second in the class.
